

Animal-based

Insects are the original protein source for many animals, including chickens and fish

Plant-based

Insect residues are used to create improved soil health

